Mount Vernon, New York, May 2022,

Benfield Electric Supply is pleased to announce today their appointment of premier distributorship for Blink EV Charging products.

Blink electrifies more than cars, they electrify imaginations. They have built the EV infrastructure to make electric vehicle charging accessible. It is their singular focus and has been for more than a decade.

In the first quarter of 2022, Blink again achieved record revenues with exponential year-over-year growth of almost 340% driven by increased product sales and service revenues,” commented Michael D. Farkas, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Blink Charging. “We’re building off a solid platform created by record 2021 results and expect continued momentum in 2022 as partners and customers recognize Blink as a leading provider of EV charging technology and services both domestically and internationally.

With industry-leading equipment and a robust network of public charging stations, they continue to develop the charging infrastructure required to meet the growing needs of EV drivers.
